

MEDICAL STUDENT REQUEST FORM

for THE Physicians-in-Training Host Program

What is the Physicians-in-Training Host Program?

The Physicians-in-Training Program offers a one or two-night stay in an AMA Alliance member's home to fourth-year medical students, who are on the interview trail.

What is the goal of the program?

The program was created by the AMA Alliance, AMA Medical Student Section and AMA Resident/Fellows to help students cut down on interviewing costs, get to know the community surrounding their potential residency program, and introduce them to the local medical society and Alliance.

Who is the AMA Alliance?

The AMA Alliance is the largest, most influential grassroots organization representing the family of medicine. Comprised of physicians and physician spouses, its mission is to promote the good health of America and support the family of medicine. As the proactive volunteer voice of the AMA, the Alliance is dedicated to promoting better public health, ensuring sound health care legislation, and fund-raising for medical education.

For over 80 years, the AMA Alliance has worked to improve the health of America. The Alliance's signature program, Stop America's Violence Everywhere (SAVE), reduces violence through a wide range of community service initiatives.

What do I need to know before I make a request?

- ➔ Program assists 4th year medical students.
- ➔ Requests need to be received at least two weeks prior to expected stay.
- ➔ We will try to fulfill up to three interview dates per medical student.
- ➔ Requests for Thanksgiving, Christmas Eve, Christmas Day, New Year's Eve and New Year's Day cannot be filled. Please keep in mind that requests for other stays around the holidays may be difficult to fulfill.
- ➔ Please keep in mind that all hosts are volunteers. Some states have a very limited number of volunteers. In certain areas, there may be no volunteer hosts.
